SAYS HE HAS A MISSION.

Ku-I the hero of the recent Battle of the Taro Patch, is closely guarded in a cell at the police station. He insists that he is a son of Kamehameha the Great also that he is Jesus Christ II and that he is an apostle from Heaven. He refused to shake hands with Deputy High Sheriff Rawlins and Attorney Frank Thompson yesterday for he said that he was from heaven while they were a long way from that place. In fact he rather implied that they were the antithesis of heaven.

REVIVAL STILL GAINS HEADWAY

SUNDAY SCHOOLS PARADE AND LAST NIGHT'S MEETING WERE BOTH BIG SUCCESSSES.

Last night's meeting at the Central Union was fairly well attended, and there was the usual enthusiasm manifested in the service. Dr. Ostrom took as his text the words of Joseph who when tempted by Potiphar's wife said, "How then can I sin against God?" It was easy, he said, for a man to admire the right, but it is a greater thing to take the attitude of putting away a sin. Many coquetted with sin for years before the law, and his mind runs up and down the path flush until the path is smooth and he slips down it unconsciously.

You must say, "I will never do a wrong thing." God's call to man is to forsake sin. A man who is away from home for six days in the week at his work has not forsaken his wife. There is nothing a man knows to be wrong that can benefit him.

There are many considerations regarding wrong-doing. There is more need to be long-suffering than to be a wrong-doer. Dr. Ostrom said he was not in favor of the call for health all the time. It means too much for the fleshly needs to the neglect of spiritual wants. Dr. Ostrom wanted to hear more about soul-health. Some of the most distressing physical wrecks have been the most exalted spiritual beings. No man in putting away sin need expect abject poverty. He need not think he is to be slandered for leaving his sins. He generally makes thousands of good friends.

"Tonight in your soul make up your mind to hate what you know to be wrong," said Dr. Ostrom. "Turn your face heavenward and say I purpose to lead a righteous life. Don't let a preacher or an angel in heaven settle it for you. Do it yourself."

The feature of the revival movement yesterday was the great success of the Sunday school parade. With banners flying the different schools marched through the streets to the lot opposite the Young Hotel where different of the revival songs were sung and Dr. Ostrom delivered a telling address. The parade attracted general interest throughout the city.
